OUR ALMA MATER

It is a matter of great pride for us that the Harcourt Butler Technological Institute (HBTI), Kanpur is our alma mater. Our Institute has a glorious history and has always been in the forefront for technological developments and growth of industries in India since its inception. HBTI began in 1920 as Government Research Institute, Kanpur with Dr. E.R. Waston as its first Principal. In 1921, the Institute was renamed as Government Technological Institute. It was inaugurated by Sir Spencer Harcourt Butler, the then Government of U.P. Province on November 25, 1921. The Institute got its present name in 1926. Degree course in Oil Technology and Chemical Engineering were started in 1954 and thereafter, several undergraduate and postgraduate course were started. Today, HBTI is running thirteen undergraduate course and ten postgraduate courses out of which eleven undergraduate courses are accredited by the National Bureau of Accreditation (NBA), AICTE, New Delhi. The University Grants Commission, New Delhi has declared HBTI as the autonomous Institute affiliated to G.B. Technical University, Lucknow.

ABOUT ALUMNI ASSOCIATION, HARCOURT BUTLER TECHNOLOGICAL INSTITUTE, KANPUR

HBTI had the Alumni Association since the inception of Institute. Harcourtians' Association has been very active in the past but it saw a dormant phase till it was activated with all vigor in 1996 by a group of enthusiastic Harcourtians. The Association has its chapters located at Kanpur, Bombay, Meerut, New Delhi (NCR), Calcutta, Bangalore, and Hyderabad. The Association has been regularly organizing get together where alumni get the opportunity to share their experience and thoughts and in continuation to it the Association held first International Alumni Meet in November, 2005 at the Institute. Subsequently Institute's Board of Governors approved the by-laws of the 'Alumni Association, Harcourt Butler Technological Institute, Kanpur: It is registered under Societies Registration Act and has it's full time functional office in the Institute. This is the Sixth Alumni Meet being organized by Association.
